

ST. LOUIS AT HOME EDITORIAL INTERN

DESCRIPTION

St. Louis At Home is the unequivocal must-read for people who love their homes. The magazine inspires St. Louisans to entertain, cook, decorate and thoroughly enjoy their home environment.

St. Louis At Home seeks qualified journalism and/or Liberal Arts students as interns for the spring and summer semesters. Flexible scheduling is available. Interns will focus on editorial assignments and work closely with the magazine's Editor-in-Chief. He or she will assist the editor with outreach to the local architecture and design community and research for our social media platforms. Interns will have the opportunity to gain substantial writing clips via articles posted online at stlmag.com/home.

REQUIREMENTS

- Must have completed introductory journalism and/or English courses or other Liberal Arts curriculum.
- Must have an interest in home design, decor and architecture .
- Must have experience with Microsoft Word and willingness and/or ability to learn the basics of posting articles and images to the content management system, MetroPublisher.
- Must be junior or senior undergraduate student or current graduate student.
- Must be able to work remotely with some time in the office, as needed.

COMPENSATION

School credit only.

HOW TO APPLY

Please email cover letter, resume, link to online portfolio (if applicable), and four clips in PDF format to Veronica Theodoro at vtheodoro@stlmag.com.

No phone calls accepted