EDITORIAL INTERNSHIP

DESCRIPTION

Editorial interns for St. Louis' premier city magazine write stories for our website, conduct research for the magazine, and more. Because St. Louis Magazine is an independently owned publication, we give interns the opportunity to work on projects that correspond with their area(s) of editorial interest. An internship is a unique chance to add clips to your portfolio while working alongside professional reporters and editors. We expect interns to work between 10 and 20 hours per week. Dress is business casual.

COMPENSATION

Interns must receive school credit. Please contact your university or college career counseling office about your school's specific requirements, guidelines and policies, as they vary by institution.

HOW TO APPLY

Email a cover letter, résumé and 3-5 writing samples to digital editor Sarah Kloepple at skloepple@stlmag.com. Please do not submit through indeed.com. Send clips as Word or PDF files (not as cut-and-pasted URLs).

No phone calls please!
